What Happens When You Have Missed a Flight on JetBlue?

You can miss your flight for several reasons. However, you should not panic as it is a common occurrence and many travelers have experienced it. So let's look at what to expect if you miss your JetBlue flight, depending on your ticket and trip type.

Missed flight charges

If you miss an international flight, the ticket price will be credited to your account with the airline. Use this JetBlue missed flight credit to book your future travel. There may be additional charges depending on the travel class chosen. Premium and JetBlue members are exempt from fees.

Rebook a new flight

When you inform the airline that you have missed a flight, they rebook the next flight. However, the reason you missed the flight must be convincing enough. For example, if you are unable to take your flight due to any legality or medical condition, rebooking is very easy. However, be prepared to shell out an extra amount if the new plane ticket costs more than the previous one. If the airline cancels your flight due to weather issues, technical faults, etc., you will get the next flight on the same day.

Refund money

With JetBlue, you can rest assured that you will receive a refund for your missed flight as determined by your ticket type. Simply fill out an online application form, stating a valid reason. The airline will reimburse you according to its policy for missed flights. The refund period depends on the payment method chosen. Payment by debit/credit card is refunded within 7 to 8 business days.
